

Commission Receives a Permit Application

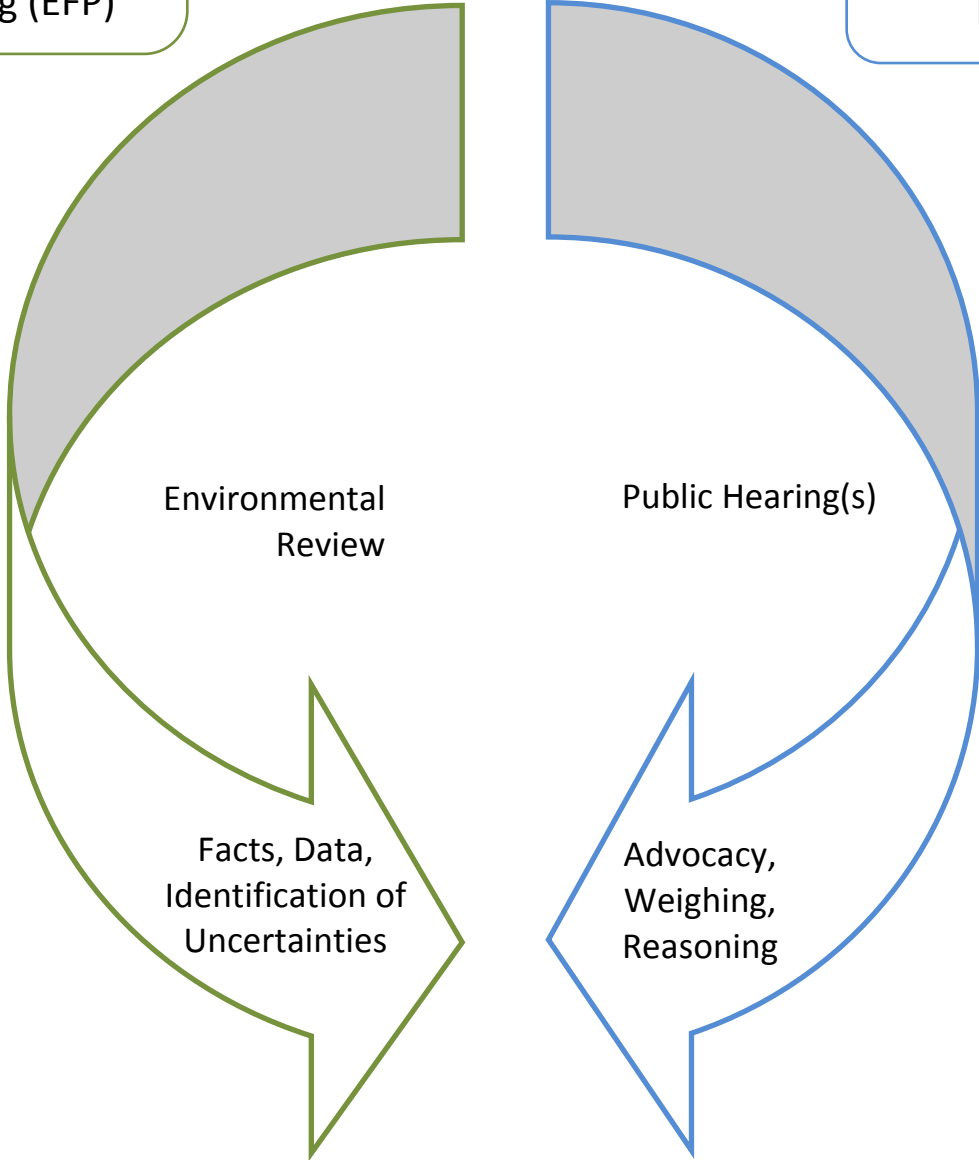

Commission Requests Assistance from State Agencies

Environmental Review Conducted by Department of Commerce, Energy Facility Permitting (EFP)

Public Hearings Conducted by Office of Administrative Hearings (OAH)

Public meeting(s) to gather comments on what we (citizens, EFP staff, Commission) need to know about the potential impacts of the proposed project.

For some projects, a second set of public meetings is held for comment on the draft environmental review document – what it missed, where it's unclear, what needs to be added.

Public hearing(s) conducted by an administrative law judge (ALJ) to gather advocacy as to the most prudent location for the proposed project.

Citizens, agencies, and others describe the location(s) they prefer, why they prefer them, and conditions that should be included in the permit for the project.

ALJ Report and Environmental Review Document Submitted to the Commission

Commission Considers Entire Record and Makes a Permit Decision